***ODH FIXTURE MAP: With helpful navigation and parking information for all current ODH fixtures. **Please understand some of our fixtures have no actual 'address' since a lot of them are just random hayfields or back gates, and maps and GPS doesn't properly 'see' some of the addresses, so READ THE NOTES for each fixture.

****THAT'S OUR TERRITORY BACKDROP: New foxhunter Jennifer Bardsley captured the essence of the Old Dominion Hounds in this shot from Rucker on Tuesday – handsome hounds, pristine open territory full of wild woodlands, lots of coverts and fox hidey-holes, galloping farmland and a Blue Ridge backdrop.

****ALL-CALL FOR SIGHTHOUNDS: The annual Foxcliffe lure coursing practice trials is slated for Sunday, Jan. 9 in the Poe's Run riverbottom field (one of ODH's main fixtures) near Flint Hill. The practice "competition" begins at 12 p.m. and features a half-mile course with an artificial lure for sighthounds and eager dogs of any breed.

The event is free for dogs and free to attend. Bring a hot beverage, a chair, a lap blanket or warm clothes (and your leashed dog if you have one to try it out) and spend the afternoon on the banks of the Jordan River watching some great sighthound lure coursing (and some fun backyard pups trying it out.) No RSVP is required, but watch the ODH Facebook page for updates if the weather is questionable.

****THE WELL-READ RIDER: Bits and pieces of literary venery: An ongoing compilation of our favorite short (and long) sporting quotes. Foxhuntinglife.com's Norman Fine offers this ode to the bold first flight thrusters from writer Will Ogilvie:

While there's one on his feet with a tale to repeat
And another is sampling a drink,
The eager First Flight have a girth to pull tight
Or a chain to let out by a link;
While the boisterous laugh in that circle of chaff
The opening music has drowned,
You will hear the First Flight as they whisper "That's right!"
To the note of a favorite hound.

When a holloa makes sure that his start is secure
And dispels every doubt of a run,
When the crowd gallops straight to the obvious gate
With the latch that is never undone,
You will see the First Flight cram a topper on tight,
Catch a willing old nag by the head,
And clapping on sail at the blackthorn or rail,
Take the line of the robber in red.

They thunder away over stubble and clay,
Over roots or the level o' lea,
The gallant First Flight that are soon out of sight
While the slow ones are sadly at sea
The crash of a rail in the cream of the vale
Is to them but a matter of mirth,
And the avalanche fall of a hoof-rattled wall
But the merriest music on earth.

Now the men who ride first may be frequently cursed
As they press on the faltering pack,
But we're all of us loath to pull up for an oath
When it comes from a field or two back;

And the Master may blame and the jealous declaim,
But the weakest must go to the wall,
And it's plain the First Flight have the premier right
If the hounds may be hustled at all.

Come drink with me, then, to the big-hearted men
Who have pluck to sit down and go straight!
Whether farmer or squire, may they keep out of wire
And be spared a lift home on a gate!
Fill your glass tonight to the gallant First Flight,
Let us wish them the luck of the line
And tomorrow recall to the best game of all,
And the wind that is better than wine!

FISH arranges for needy children to take home backpacks of food every week through the elementary schools.

Here's how you can help:
